DECLARATION OF DOROTHY M. WEBER

DOROTHY M. WEBER declares:

1. I am a member of the firm Shukat Arrow Hafer Weber & Herbsman, LLP, attorneys for the Plaintiffs Yoko Ono Lennon, Sean Ono Lennon, Julian Lennon and EMI Blackwood Music, Inc. ("Plaintiffs") herein in the above-captioned action. I am fully familiar with the facts and circumstances contained herein.

2. The purpose of this declaration is to place before the court documents referred to in connection with Plaintiff's instant application, by Order to Show Cause, for a temporary restraining order, preliminary injunction and order for expedited discovery.

3. Annexed hereto as Exhibit A is a true and accurate copy of the Complaint herein, dated April 22, 2008, Index No. 08 CV 3813 (SHS).

4. Annexed hereto as Exhibit B is a composite exhibit consisting of true and accurate copies of articles appearing on various Internet websites since the Complaint was filed on April 22, 2008, wherein the Defendants have defended their use of the song "Imagine" in connection with their Movie as, inter alia, a "fair use."

5. Annexed hereto as Exhibit C is a true and accurate copy of the Complaint dated April 22, 2008, together with the Order to Show Cause for a preliminary injunction filed by EMI Records, Ltd. And Capitol Records, LLC v. Premise Media Corporation, L.P., C&S Production L.P. d/b/a Rampant Films, Premise Media Distribution, L.P. and Rocky Mountain Pictures, Inc, Index No. 601209/08 seeking inter alia, an injunction and damages for use of the Master Recording of the song "Imagine" under New York State's common law copyright covering recordings "fixed" pre-February, 1972.

6. Annexed hereto as Exhibit D is a composite exhibit consisting of true and accurate copies of the theatre distribution listing published on the Movie's official Website www.expelledthemovie.com.

7. Plaintiffs will suffer irreparable harm without the relief requested herein.

8. There is no adequate remedy at law to satisfy the relief requested herein.
9. There has been no prior request made for this relief.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the United States of America that the foregoing is true and correct to the best of my knowledge.

COMPLAINT

Plaintiffs,

PREMISE MEDIA CORPORATION, L.P., C&S
PRODUCTION L.P. d/b/a RAMPANT FILMS, PREMISE MEDIA DISTRIBUTION L.P. AND
ROCKY MOUNTAIN PICTURES, INC.,

Defendants.

Plaintiffs, Yoko Ono Lennon, Sean Ono Lennon, Julian Lennon and EMI
Blackwood Music, Inc., by their attorneys, Shukat Arrow Hafer Weber & Herbsman, LLP, allege for their complaint, upon knowledge and belief as to their own acts and upon information and belief as to the acts of all others, as follows:

THE PARTIES, JURISDICTION AND VENUE

1. Plaintiff Yoko Ono Lennon is an individual residing in the State of New York. She is the widow of the late John Lennon, who was one of the most successful and influential musicians of all time. Mrs. Lennon succeeded to all copyright, trademark and other intellectual property interests owned by John Lennon on his death, including, but not limited to, the trademark in "Imagine" (the "Mark") and is one of the renewal claimants for the music and lyrics to the song "Imagine" (the "Song").

2. Plaintiff Sean Ono Lennon is a citizen and resident of the State of New York and is a son of the late John Lennon. He is also a renewal claimant on the copyright registration for the Song.

3. Plaintiff Julian Lennon is a citizen of the United Kingdom and resident of Italy and is a son of the late John Lennon. He is also a renewal claimant on the copyright registration for the Song.

4. Plaintiff EMI Blackwood Music, Inc. is the publishing administrator of the Song. EMI Blackwood Music, Inc. is a Connecticut Corporation and has its principal place of business at 75 Ninth Avenue, New York, New York 10011

5. Defendant Premise Media Corporation is a Delaware limited partnership with its principal place of business in Dallas, Texas.

6. Defendant C&S Production, LP, d/b/a Rampant Films, is a Delaware limited partnership with its principal place of business in Gonzales, Texas.

7. Defendant Premise Media Distribution LP is a Delaware Limited Liability company with its principal place of business in Dallas, Texas.

8. Defendant Rocky Mountain Pictures, Inc. is a Utah Corporation with its principal place of business in Salt Lake City, Utah.

9. This Court has exclusive jurisdiction over the subject matter of this action pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 1331, §1332 and 1338 and Section 43(a) of the Lanham Act (15 U.S.C. §1125(a)) and principles of pendent jurisdiction. The claims herein arise under Sections 106, 201, 501 and 504 of the Copyright Act (17 U.S.C. §§ 106, 201, 501 and 504) and the common law.

10. This Court also has jurisdiction based upon the diversity of the parties (28 U.S.C. §1332), as this is a civil action between citizens of different states in which the amount in controversy exceeds the sum of $75,000 exclusive of interest and costs.

11. Venue is proper in the Southern District of New York pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1391(a) and (b) as there is complete diversity between Plaintiffs and Defendants, and since a substantial part of the events that are the subject matter of this lawsuit occurred in this judicial district, including, but not limited to, sales and distribution of the infringing Film, as defined hereinbelow, in this judicial district.

BACKGROUND FACTS

12. John Lennon was a musician, artist and political activist whose status as an artistic genius and musical icon of the twentieth century cannot be disputed. His achievements as a musician, writer, artist and humanitarian are legendary and were cut short by his tragic and shocking assassination in 1980.

13. The distinctive artistic brilliance that has come to be associated with John Lennon's music is of inestimable value to his heirs.

14. The Song appeared on John Lennon's album entitled "Imagine." The December 4, 2004 issue of Rolling Stone magazine entitled the "500 Greatest Songs of all Time" ranked the Song at number three (3). The Imagine album and single have sold multi-millions of copies worldwide. Simply, Imagine is one of the most recognizable songs in the world.

15. The Mark has been used in commerce since at least 1988 in connection with the sale and advertising of Plaintiff's products and services and has achieved secondary meaning through substantial usage and sales and the attendant consumer recognition. "Imagine" was also the title of the critically acclaimed David Wolper documentary on the life of John Lennon, produced with the participation of Plaintiff, Yoko Ono Lennon.

16. As a result of publicity, advertising and marketing efforts with respect to the Song, it has acquired secondary meaning as Lennon's "signature" song. Accordingly, the Song has become closely associated with and is synonymous with John Lennon and associated with Plaintiffs.

17. Through sponsorship and promotion of charitable and educational events, such as the John Lennon Educational Tour Bus and the Imagine Peace Tower, and through music, art and multimedia events regarding the musical legacy of John Lennon, Plaintiff Yoko Ono Lennon has intentionally associated the Mark with John Lennon's vision.

THE FILM

18. On or about April 15, 2008, press reports were posted on Internet news sites incorrectly stating that Plaintiffs had licensed or otherwise authorized the use of the Song in a motion picture entitled "Expelled: No Intelligence Allowed" (the “Film”). This was the first time that Plaintiffs became aware of the Film or the use of the Song in the Film. Defendants are the producers, distributors or otherwise involved with and profit from the Film.

19. None of the Plaintiffs granted permission for the use of the Song in the Film.

20. Internet “bloggers” immediately began accusing Mrs. Lennon of “selling out” by licensing the Song to Defendants.

21. On April 18, 2008, at a public showing of the Film at 11:40 a.m. at the E-Walk Stadium 1 Cinemas located at 247 West 42nd Street in New York City, the Film prominently featured the use of John Lennon's recording of the Song, together with a reproduction, by subtitle, of a portion of the lyrics of the Song on the screen.

22. The Film also contains other musical compositions, including "All Along The Watchtower" written by Bob Dylan, "Spirit In The Sky" written and performed by Norman Greenbaum "All These Things That I've Done" written by Brandon Flower, Dave Brent Keuning, Mark August Stoermer and Ronnie Vannucci, Jr. and performed by the artist "The Killers" and "Personal Jesus" written by Martin Lee Gore and performed by the artist "Depeche Mode."

23. On information and belief, the filmmakers obtained and/or applied for synchronization licenses for the use of the foregoing musical compositions and masters but did not obtain permission for use of the Song.

24. Rolling credits at the end of the movie state ownership, credit and permissions information for each such song licensed.

25. "Imagines" ownership and credit information is also displayed among the similar information for the other music used, but close inspection of the momentary reference reveals that the "permission granted" line was omitted in the case of the Song.

26. Members of the consuming public are likely to perceive this credit information in the Film as suggesting that the Song was properly licensed. Indeed, commentators in the press have widely speculated that such use was approved by the owners of the intellectual property associated with "Imagine".

27. Upon information and belief, Defendants have intentionally and willfully used the Song without authorization because they knew that they would likely be unable to secure permission from Plaintiffs and/or because they wished to avoid the costs associated with lawfully licensing these works and paying royalties.

28. Upon information and belief, Defendants have also intentionally and willfully used the Song in a fashion that suggests to the public that such use was authorized, endorsed or sponsored by the Plaintiffs.

FIRST CLAIM FOR RELIEF
(Copyright Infringement)

29. Plaintiffs repeat and reallege the allegations contained in paragraphs 1 through 28 with the same force and effect as if fully set forth herein.

30. At all relevant times, Plaintiffs are and have been the rightful owners and/or administrators of the copyrights in and to the Song.

31. Plaintiffs Ono, Sean Ono Lennon and Julian Lennon have filed with the United States Copyright Office the deposit, application, and fee required for registration of the Song pursuant to 17 U.S.C. §§ 408, 409 and Copyright Registration RE-796-356 was issued on December 31, 1998, a copy which is annexed hereto as Exhibit A. The Song was originally registered on September 15, 1971 and bears registration number EU277294, a copy of which is annexed as Exhibit B.

32. Defendants have no license or any other form of permission to copy, duplicate, or claim copyright ownership in the Song, or to sell or distribute any portion of the Song.

33. Defendants have infringed Plaintiffs' copyright in the Song, in violation of the Copyright Act, 17 U.S.C. §§ 501 and 106, by copying, publishing, and distributing the Song.

34. Such infringement is willful pursuant to the Copyright Act, 17 U.S.C. § 504.

35. Defendants' unauthorized exploitation of the Song in the Film is in derogation of and injurious to Plaintiffs' exclusive rights as the owner and/or administrator of the copyright to the Song, all to the Plaintiffs' substantial damage.

36. By reason of the foregoing acts of copyright infringement, Plaintiffs are entitled both to a permanent injunction enjoining Defendants from continuing the aforesaid acts of infringement, and to an award of damages in an amount to be proved at trial.

SECOND CLAIM FOR RELIEF
(Injunction)

37. Plaintiffs repeat and reallege the allegations contained in paragraphs 1 through 37 with the same force and effect as if fully set forth herein.

38. At all times herein Plaintiffs Yoko Ono Lennon, Sean Lennon and Julian Lennon were the owners of the copyright in and to the Song.

39. By Defendants' public dissemination of the Song, Defendants have violated Plaintiffs' copyright interests in the Song .

40. Plaintiffs have been damaged by Defendants' public dissemination of the Song, and will continue to suffer damage in the future if Defendants continue to publicly disseminate the Song.

41. This Court is authorized by 17 U.S.C. § 502 to enjoin the future infringement of Plaintiffs' copyright in the Song.

THIRD CLAIM FOR RELIEF BY YOKO ONO LENNON
(Violation of § 43(a) of the Lanham Act)

42. The Plaintiff, Yoko Ono Lennon, repeats and realleges the allegations set forth in paragraphs 1 through 41 as if fully set forth herein.

43. Yoko Ono Lennon was the Executrix of the Estate of John Lennon.

44. The name "Imagine" is distinctive and arbitrary and has acquired secondary meaning. "Imagine" is entitled to protection from misappropriation and from use on unauthorized goods and products.

45. Defendants have used, and continue to use, "Imagine" in connection with the Film in a way which is likely to cause confusion and/or mistake among consumers by falsely suggesting and implying that the Film is authorized, approved and/or sponsored by the Plaintiff or is in some way affiliated, connected or associated with unauthorized uses.

46. Defendants' conduct constitutes a violation of Section 43(a) of the Lanham Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1125(a).

47. The acts and conduct of Defendants have caused, and unless restrained and enjoined by this Court will continue to cause, great and irreparable harm to Plaintiffs in that there is a likelihood of confusion by the public as to the source or sponsorship of the Film, and that the offering for sale and sale of the Film usurps and perverts the market for licensed uses of the Song. Such irreparable harm cannot be adequately compensated or measured by money alone.

48. Plaintiff has no adequate remedy at law.

49. By reason of the foregoing, Plaintiff is entitled both to a permanent injunction enjoining Defendants from continuing the aforesaid violations of § 43(a) of the Lanham Act, and to an award of damages in an amount not less than three times Defendants' profits or damages, whichever is greater, and reasonable attorney fees.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiffs demand judgment against Defendants as follows:

a. On Count I:

i. Finding that the Defendants have infringed the Plaintiffs' copyright interests in the Song;

- ii. Permanently enjoining and restraining Defendants, their agents, affiliates and representatives from producing, manufacturing, printing, distributing, selling, marketing, promoting, advertising and/or otherwise exploiting the Film, or causing the foregoing activities to take place, and from otherwise infringing Plaintiffs' copyright interests in the Song;
- iii. Entering judgment for Plaintiffs and against Defendants, jointly and severally, for Plaintiffs' actual damages plus Defendants' additional profits, or, in the alternative, statutory damages, pursuant to 17 U.S.C. § 504, in an amount yet to be determined, and directing Defendant to provide an accounting of all sales of and profits derived from the exploitation of the Film;
- iv. ordering Defendants to account for all profits, gains and advantages derived from their acts of infringement and for its other violations of law;
- v. That all gains, profits and advantages derived by Defendants from their acts of infringement be deemed to be held in constructive trust for the benefit of the Plaintiffs; and
- vi. ordering Defendants to turn over all copies of the Film that are now within Defendant's ownership or control;

b. On Count II, permanently enjoining and restraining Defendants, their agents, affiliates and representatives from producing, manufacturing, printing, distributing, selling, marketing, promoting, advertising and/or otherwise exploiting the Film, or causing the foregoing activities to take place, and from otherwise infringing the Plaintiffs' copyright interests in the Song;

c. On Count III:

i. permanently enjoining and restraining Defendants, their agents, affiliates and representatives from continuing use of the mark "Imagine" in connection with the Film in a way which is likely to cause confusion and/or mistake among consumers by falsely suggesting and implying that the Film is authorized, approved and/or sponsored by the Plaintiffs or that Plaintiffs are in some way affiliated, connected or associated with the Defendants' unauthorized uses, and from producing, manufacturing, printing, distributing, selling, marketing, promoting, advertising and otherwise exploiting the Film; and

- ii. awarding Plaintiff damages against Defendants, jointly and severally, in an amount to be proven at trial, but in no event less than Seventy-Five Thousand ($75,000) Dollars and not less than three times Defendants' profits or damages, whichever is greater, and reasonable attorney fees; and
- d. Awarding Plaintiffs such other and further relief as may be just and proper.

Expelled* uses John Lennon's "Imagine," doesn't say please

Writer: Nikki King
News, Published online on 17 Apr 2008

The filmmakers of the documentary Expelled: No Intelligence Allowed have apparently used John Lennon's "Imagine" without consent. Ben Stein spearheaded the film, which hits select theaters today.

In an article from the Wall Street Journal, Yoko Ono's lawyer said, "It was not licensed. We are exploring all options." Any legal resolutions are unknown at press time.

The filmmakers confirmed that they did use the track without permission, but they insist that their legal counsel told them it was fair use protected under the First Amendment due to the fact that they only used 25 seconds of it.

When the initial trailer of the film debuted with "Imagine" playing along to a montage of thematically ominous images, reportedly bloggers united against Yoko. James Boyce wrote on his blog, "I guess that the $20 million plus the estate earns every year isn't enough for Yoko Ono; not only does she feel the need to license the song out, she probably held out for the highest bidder."

Boyce recently posted a retraction of his rant. Questions are also floating around about the legitimacy of the use of the Killers' "All These Things I've Done."

Thanks to The Playlist for the tip!

'Expelled' Filmmakers Sued Over Lennon Song

By Alexander J. Sheffrin
Christian Post Correspondent

E-mail Print RSS More on Topic Digg This

As Ben Stein's pro-intelligent design documentary "Expelled: No Intelligence Allowed" soars into history as one of the most successful documentary films of all time, the producers of the film have found themselves threatened with a lawsuit – part of what they claim is the latest in a series of attacks against the film and the message it represents.

Last Wednesday, John Lennon's sons and widow, Yoko Ono, filed suit against the producers of Expelled, claiming that they had illegally appropriated and made use of John Lennon's hit song "Imagine."

In the lawsuit, Yoko Ono, Lennon's sons, and EMI Blackwood Music Inc are seeking both unspecified damages and a halt on all current screenings of the film using "Imagine."

The producers of the film, however, have claimed legal protection under the fair use doctrine and said that the lawsuit was unfairly attacking and singling out the film because of its message challenging Darwinism.

"Based on the fair use doctrine, news commentators and film documentarians regularly use material in the same way we do in EXPELLED: No Intelligence Allowed," the producers said in a statement.

"Unbiased viewers of the film will see that the 'Imagine' clip was used as part of a social commentary in the exercise of free speech. The brief clip – consisting of a mere 10 words – was used to contrast the messages in the documentary and was not used as an endorsement of EXPELLED," the producers added.

Walt Ruloff, executive producer and CEO of the film's production company, explained the symbolism behind the use of the song.

"If you really listen to the lyrics of Imagine then you realize that it represents everything that the Neo-Darwinists want. 'Imagine there's no Heaven...No hell below us...Nothing to kill or die for And no religion too...' That's exactly what the Darwinist establishment wants to do: get rid of religion. And that's what we point out when we play less than 15 seconds of the song and show some of the lyrics on screen,"

Ben Stein, the star of the film, said the lawsuit was humorous given the greater implication and meaning behind the song.

"So Yoko Ono is suing over the brief Constitutionally protected use of a song that wants us to 'Imagine no possessions'? Maybe instead of wasting everyone's time trying to silence a documentary she should give the song to the world for free? After all, 'imagine all the people sharing all the world...You may say I'm a dreamer But I'm not the only one I hope someday you'll join us And the World can live as one,' he said, citing lyrics from the song.

"Expelled: No Intelligence Allowed," is a feature-length documentary film about researchers, professors, and academics who claim to have been marginalized, silenced, or threatened with academic expulsion because of their challenges to some or all parts of Darwin's theory of evolution.

Since its release on April 18, the film has generated over $5.2 million, placing it among the most successful documentary films of all time.

The reason why darwinists fear any debate, no even any mention, of intelligent design was given by Ben Stein last night on Glenn Beck. In general we humans don't want a God to which we must be accountable. Lies, theft, abortion, immorality in general will be judged by the God who created. So, if you don't want to be judged you must either submit to His Son and His word, or deny God exists. The darwinists view intelligent design as the skinny edge of the wedge that would open the door to a wider recognition of God in the public square. So they act like the dark seekers (I am Legend) striken by the sun whenever they hear the words intelligent design. I saw Expelled this past weekend and it is great. The best lines were last. "Truth crushed to the ground will rise again." "No lie can last forever." The darwinists have real reason to fear. There is a God and He has spoken to us through His word.

Expelled was very well done a great documentary. Exposed the liberal bias in the university, education should be a free thinking arena all sides of an issue being open for debate. Let the students decide after weighing the evidence what they believe. There seems to be a real fear of any debate concerning darwinism verses intelligent design WHY ?

According to the figures on BoxOfficeMojo.com - one of the most complete and widely sourced databases of box office figures - lists only Fahrenheit 9/11 as having a larger opening weekends among documentaries. I would like to compare these films through the first 10 days and $/screen but alas I do not have the premier pass.

Film - Film Total - Opening Weekend (US Gross)
Fahrenheit 9/11 - $119,194,771 - $23,920,637
Expelled - $5,297,860 - $2,970,848

Bowling for Columbine - $21,576,018 - $209,148
Super Size Me - $11,536,423 - $516,641
March of the Penguins - $77,437,223 - $137,492
Sicko - $24,540,079 - $68,969
An Inconvenient Truth - $24,146,161 - $281,330

Let's also keep it apples to apples - Omen mixes apples and oranges by throwing in the worldwide gross and Expelled hasn't opened overseas. So let's be careful before you go calling people sloppy, blue.

And the claim of it being biased is funny. According to my old freshmen film textbook: "Documentaries use a rhetorical [film] form in an attempt to persuade the audience to a particular viewpoint. - Bordwell & Thompson" By their very nature, documentaries are biased!!!

Disclaimer: haven't seen Expelled and don't know if I will. But I do live in a Town and Gown community and work for a major research university.

Lennon Heirs Sue 'Expelled' Filmmakers Over 'Imagine'

April 23, 2008, 6:25 PM ET

John Lennon's sons and widow, Yoko Ono, are suing the filmmakers of "Expelled: No Intelligence Allowed" for using the song "Imagine" in the documentary without permission.

Ono, her son Sean Ono Lennon, and Julian Lennon, John Lennon's son from his first marriage, along with privately held publisher EMI Blackwood Music Inc, filed suit in U.S. District Court in Manhattan seeking to bar the filmmakers and their distributors from continuing to use "Imagine" in the movie.

The suit is against the film's producers and distributors, Premise Media Corporation, C&S Production LP and Rocky Mountain Pictures. The plaintiffs are also seeking unspecified damages.

The documentary, which features Ben Stein, an actor, comedian and former speechwriter for President Richard Nixon, looks at alleged discrimination against scientists and teachers who support so-called intelligent design as an alternative to Darwin's theory of evolution.

The producers cited the fair use doctrine, which allows the use of copyrighted materials for the purposes of commentary and criticism.

"We are disappointed therefore that Yoko Ono and others have decided to challenge our free speech right to comment on the song 'Imagine' in our documentary film," they said in a statement.

Ono, Lennon Sons Hit Expelled Folks With Lawsuit

Thou shalt not incite the wrath of Yoko Ono and her lawyers. The folks behind anti-evolution film Expelled: No Intelligence Allowed are learning this the hard way, as they're now the subject of a lawsuit filed by Ono and the sons of John Lennon-- Julian and Sean-- according to a Reuters report.

As previously reported, a portion of immortal Lennon classic "Imagine" can be heard in Expelled, which stars Ben Stein and opened in select theaters last week. Folks initially assumed Lennon's widow Yoko Ono licensed the song to the filmmakers, and accordingly accused her of hypocrisy.

Ono did not license the song, however, and the lawsuit she filed together with the Lennon sons and publisher EMI Blackwood Music Inc. seeks "to bar the filmmakers and their distributors from continuing to use 'Imagine' in the movie," according to the Reuters report. The plaintiffs are also seeking "unspecified damages."

The filmmakers, meanwhile, continue to claim their use of "Imagine" is protected under copyright law's fair use doctrine. Whatever, I'm still seeing the new Harold and Kumar tonight.

And according to a separate Reuters report, Ono and her lawyers are also fighting with Massachusetts-based World Wide Video over the public release of several hours of John Lennon video footage from the Beatles' final days. That case goes to court in Boston next week.

Plaintiffs EMI Records, Ltd. and Capitol Records, LLC (collectively "Plaintiffs"), by their attorneys Cowan, Liebowitz & Latman, P.C., as and for their Complaint against Defendants Premise Media Corporation, L.P., C&S Production, L.P. d/b/a Rampant Films, Premise Media Distribution L.P. and Rocky Mountain Pictures, Inc. (collectively, "Defendants"), allege as follows:

NATURE OF THE ACTION

1. This action asserts common law copyright infringement and unfair competition under the law of the State of New York. Plaintiffs, the owner and exclusive U.S. licensee of the rights in the sound recording of John Lennon's world renowned 1971 hit single "Imagine" (the "Imagine Recording") bring this action to curtail Defendants from making unauthorized use of the Imagine Recording in their recently opened motion picture Expelled: No Intelligence Allowed (the "Motion Picture") and from confusing the public into believing that Plaintiffs have licensed the Imagine Recording for use in the Motion Picture.

PARTIES

2. Plaintiff EMI Records Limited ("EMI") is a UK company with a place of business at EMI House, 43 Brook Green, London W6. EMI is the owner of all right, title and interest in and to the Imagine Recording under the common law of the State of New York.

3. Plaintiff Capitol Records, LLC ("Capitol") is a Delaware limited liability company with a place of business at 150 Fifth Avenue, New York, New York 10011. Capitol is EMI's exclusive United States licensee of the Imagine Recording.

4. Upon information and belief, Defendant Premise Media Corporation, L.P., C&S Production, L.P. d/b/a Rampant Films and Premise Media Distribution L.P. are all Delaware limited partnerships with principal places of business in Dallas, Texas.

5. Upon information and belief, Defendant Rocky Mountain Pictures, Inc. is a Utah corporation with a principal place of business in Salt Lake City, Utah.

6. Upon information and belief, Defendants are jointly responsible for the creation and distribution of the Motion Picture at issue in this case.

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

7. This Court has personal jurisdiction over the Defendants pursuant to NY CPLR § 302 because Defendants have transacted business within the State of New York, contracted to supply goods or services in the State of New York, and/or committed tortious acts within the State of New York.

8. Venue for this action is proper in this Court pursuant to CPLR § 503.

9. Because this action involves a business tort and equitable relief is sought, assignment to the Commercial Division, Supreme Court, New York County is appropriate pursuant to Section 202.70 of the Uniform Rules for the Trial Courts.

FACTS

Capitol and the Imagine Recordings

10. Capitol is one of the oldest and most respected companies in the music business. Founded in the 1940's, Capitol has a rich history of producing, recording, manufacturing, marketing, distributing, and selling sound recordings containing performances of musical compositions for some of the most beloved recording artists of our times, including, among others, the legendary John Lennon.

11. Capitol continues in that business today as one of the largest record companies in the world, distributing sound recordings throughout the United States and, through its foreign affiliates, across the globe in the form of records, compact discs, cassette tapes, and digital recordings, among others.

12. Capitol has invested and continues to invest substantial sums of money, time, effort, and creative talent to manufacture, advertise, promote, sell, and license sound recordings embodying the performances of a wide array of prominent and historically significant artists. In order to create and sell sound recordings, Capitol employs hundreds of individuals who are engaged in the process of making, advertising, promoting, selling, licensing and protecting its music.

13. Capitol is compensated for its creative efforts and monetary investments largely from revenue attributable to the sale of sound recordings on albums to the public and licensing of sound recordings to third parties, including without limitation for use in motion pictures.

14. Among the numerous sound recordings owned by EMI and licensed exclusively in the United States to Capitol is the Imagine Recording. First released by Capitol in 1971 as the title cut of one of John Lennon's earliest solo albums, the 1971 Imagine Recording became an instant classic and has over the ensuing 37 years developed into a musical icon, immediately recognizable to most Americans.

15. The Imagine Recording has been featured in countless highly publicized contexts, including the 1984 Academy Award nominated film The Killing Fields and as the primary recording performed in Times Square in New York City moments before the stroke of midnight on New Year's Eve for the past three years. The Imagine Recording has earned accolades from all corners of the musical world, with the recording having been included by the Recording Industry Association of America among its ranking of the most historically significant recordings and the song having been voted in 2004 the third greatest song of all time by Rolling Stone Magazine.

Defendants' Unlawful Conduct

16. On April 16, 2008, Plaintiffs learned for the first time from press reports that the Motion Picture, scheduled for nationwide release on April 18, 2008, contained an unauthorized excerpt from the Imagine Recording. Plaintiffs confirmed this infringement by viewing the Motion Picture upon its opening on April 18, 2008.

17. The Motion Picture is a critique of the scientific establishment's adherence to Darwinian evolution theory, and advocates further exploration of the competing theory of "Intelligent Design," which claims evidence of an intelligent cause can be found in the design of the universe.

18. Immediately following an interview of a professor who expresses skepticism about the role of religion, the Motion Picture's narrator Ben Stein introduces "Imagine" and somewhere from 15 to 20 seconds of the Imagine Recording is played.

19. This use and exploitation of the Imagine Recording in the Motion Picture is entirely unauthorized.

20. The use of the Imagine Recording, with Lennon's signature voice and piano accompaniment, is also extraneous to the Motion Picture's subject matter concerning a purportedly scholarly debate about evolution theory.

21. Although they failed to do so in the case of the Imagine Recording, upon information and belief, Defendants did obtain proper licenses for other musical uses contained in the Motion Picture, including for instance Depeche Mode's "Personal Jesus," John Paul Young's "Love is in the Air," and the Killers' "All These Things That I've Done." Rolling credits at the end of the movie state ownership, credit and permissions information for each such song licensed.

22. The Imagine Recording's ownership and credit information is also displayed among the similar information for the other music used, but close inspection of the momentary reference reveals that the permissions line was omitted in the case of the Imagine Recording.

23. Members of the consuming public are likely to perceive this credit information in the Motion Picture as suggesting that the Imagine Recording was properly licensed. Indeed, commentators in the press have widely speculated that such use was approved by the owners of the intellectual property associated with "Imagine."

24. Upon information and belief, Defendants have intentionally and willfully used the Imagine Recording without authorization because they knew that they would likely be unable to secure permission from Plaintiffs and/or because they wished to avoid the costs associated with lawfully licensing these works and paying royalties.

25. Upon information and belief, Defendants have also intentionally and willfully used the Imagine Recording in a fashion that suggests to the public that such use was authorized, endorsed or sponsored by the proprietors of the Imagine Recording.

FIRST CLAIM FOR RELIEF
(COMMON LAW COPYRIGHT INFRINGEMENT)

26. Plaintiffs repeat and reallege the allegations of paragraphs 1-25 above with the same force and effect as if set forth fully herein.

27. Upon information and belief, by the actions alleged above, Defendants have committed copyright infringement of the Imagine Recording under New York common law.

28. Plaintiffs have been injured and continues to suffer irreparable injury for which there is no adequate remedy at law as a result of Defendants' unlawful and infringing conduct.

SECOND CLAIM FOR RELIEF
(UNFAIR COMPETITION)

29. Plaintiffs repeat and reallege the allegations of paragraphs 1-25 above with the same force and effect as if set forth fully herein.

30. Defendants' use of the Imagine Recording in the Motion Picture is likely to confuse and mislead the public into believing that the Imagine Recording was properly licensed for use in the Motion Picture.

31. Plaintiffs have been injured and continues to suffer irreparable injury for which there is no adequate remedy at law as a result of Defendants' unlawful and infringing conduct.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiffs respectfully requests the following relief:

1. An order preliminarily and permanently enjoining Defendants, their agents, officers, servants, employees, successors and/or assigns, and all persons or companies in active concert and/or participation with them, from (a) reproducing, distributing or otherwise exploiting the Imagine Recording, including without limitation as part of the Motion Picture; and (b) misrepresenting or implying that the Imagine Recording has been licensed by Plaintiffs for use in the Motion Picture.

2. Awarding Plaintiffs all damages suffered as a result of Defendants' wrongful acts in an amount to be determined at trial.

3. Directing Defendants to account for and pay over to Plaintiffs all profits derived from its wrongful acts.

4. Awarding Plaintiffs punitive damages as a result of Defendants' willful violations of Capitol's rights.

5. Awarding Plaintiffs pre-judgment interest on all sums awarded.

6. Awarding Plaintiffs all costs incurred in this action, including reasonable attorneys' fees.

7. Granting Plaintiffs such other and further relief as the Court deems just and proper.

ALASDAIR J. McMULLAN, being duly sworn, deposes and says:

1. I am Senior Vice President, Legal Affairs of EMI Music North America, a division of plaintiff Capitol Records, LLC (“Capitol”). I submit this declaration in support of Plaintiffs’ Motion for a Preliminary Injunction. The facts stated herein are based on my personal knowledge and review of company records.

2. We bring this motion on an emergency basis to curtail defendants Premise Media Corporation, L.P., C&S Production, L.P. d/b/a Rampant Films, Premise Media Distribution L.P. and Rocky Mountain Pictures, Inc. (collectively “Defendants”) from infringing our rights in one of the most significant sound recordings in our company’s history, John Lennon’s “Imagine” (the “Imagine Recording”). Having just learned of this infringement, we seek the Court’s immediate intervention to protect our valuable rights in the Imagine Recording. The relevant facts are as follows.

The Business of Capitol Records, LLC and EMI Records Ltd.

3. Founded in 1942, Capitol is one of the largest producers and sellers of sound recordings of musical performances in the world. Capitol distributes and sells its recordings in the United States and, through foreign affiliates, throughout the world in the form of records, compact discs, cassette tapes, and digital recordings.

4. Capitol invests enormous sums of money and effort in the creation and marketing of sound recordings featuring a wide array of prominent and historically significant artists. Capitol recoups this investment of time and money by earning revenue from the sale of these recordings to the public and the licensing of the recordings to third parties.

5. One particularly lucrative and commercially significant means by which Capitol exploits its rights in these recordings is by licensing them for use in feature movies, television, commercials, documentaries and other audiovisual works, all referred to in the industry as "synchronization licenses." By way of example, Capitol and its U.S. affiliate labels earned over $26 million in synchronization fees during the fiscal year ended this past March.

6. In pursuing synchronization income on behalf of our recordings, we license an extremely broad range of audiovisual uses, spanning the spectrum from playful children's movies to sober documentaries. Thus, for instance, in the category of pure entertainment, we licensed excerpts of five recordings from contemporary popular music for the animated children's film Robots. In contrast, for Michael Moore's acclaimed documentary about gun violence, Bowling For Columbine, we licensed the Beatles'

“Happiness is a Warm Gun,” which poignantly sets off a jarring video montage of gun purchases, assault rifles, and publicized suicides.

7. The synchronization licenses we grant for our recordings also range widely in duration from seconds in length to longer licenses lasting minutes or even an entire song. The five clips used in Robots were fewer than 40 seconds, and three ranged from 10-17 seconds in duration. The fees we charge are equally variable, ranging from thousands of dollars to many hundreds of thousands for a given recording licensed. As one would expect, the fees goes up considerably in relation to the nature of the use and in particular the fame of the artist and the recording in question. Top selling artists, whose recordings have shown popularity through the years, can command extremely high synchronization fees for even the shortest uses of their recordings.

8. Capitol acquires rights in the recordings it markets through various means. Capitol owns many of the recordings it markets pursuant to agreements with the artists. Capitol also enters into various agreements, both with its own corporate affiliates as well as third parties, by which it licenses the exclusive rights to produce and sell recorded musical performances of popular recording artists. Thus, for instance, Capitol functions as the exclusive U.S. licensee of certain recordings owned by its British affiliate, co-plaintiff EMI Records Ltd. (“EMI”), including the Imagine Recording at issue in this case. EMI owns the Imagine Recording by virtue of a contract entered into by EMI’s predecessor-in-interest with the members of the Beatles.

John Lennon’s “Imagine”

9. British rock star John Lennon first came to international prominence as a member of the Beatles during the 1960s, following which he flourished as a solo artist for another highly celebrated decade before his tragic assassination in 1980. In 1971, Capitol released Imagine, one of Lennon's earliest and most beloved solo albums. The title cut of the album – the Imagine Recording that is the subject of this proceeding – was an instant success whose popularity endures to the present. It has become famous as an anthem for world peace and a universe free from cultural or political divisions.

10. The Imagine Recording, which runs just slightly more than three minutes in length, begins with a contemplative piano figure followed by Lennon's plaintive voice. After an initial verse, the piano/voice duet is joined by drums and then a string background that persists through the remainder of the song. The interaction of Lennon's unmistakable voice with the recording's hauntingly simple musical accompaniment combine to create one of the most recognizable recordings in modern music history.

11. The recording has been featured in many highly publicized contexts, including in the 1984 film The Killing Fields and as the primary recording performed in Times Square in New York City moments before the stroke of midnight on New Year's Eve at the start of 2006, 2007 and 2008. On October 9, 1990, on what would have been John Lennon's 50th birthday, the Imagine Recording was broadcast simultaneously in 130 countries.

12. The famous recording of "Imagine" has also earned accolades from all corners of the music world. In 2004, Rolling Stone magazine voted "Imagine" the third greatest song of all time. Likewise, the Recording Industry Association of America has included the Imagine Recording among its ranking of the most historically significant recordings. In short, Lennon's famous performance of "Imagine" is a musical icon, immediately recognizable to most Americans.

Defendants' Unauthorized Use of the Imagine Recording

13. On April 16, 2008, we learned for the first time from press reports that Defendants' movie Expelled: No Intelligence Allowed contained an unauthorized excerpt from the Imagine Recording. On April 18, my colleagues and our outside counsel went to view the movie at its first showing. I followed by attending the movie myself on April 20, 2008.

14. Our viewing of Defendants' film has confirmed not only an unauthorized but also an entirely gratuitous use of the famous Imagine Recording, as set forth below.

Expelled: No Intelligence Allowed is a piece of documentary entertainment that purports to address the academic debate between Darwinian evolution theory and the competing doctrine of "Intelligent Design," which posits that certain features of the universe are best explained by an intelligent cause, not the undirected process of evolutionary natural selection. The movie is sharply critical of the scientific establishment's adherence to Darwinism and rejection of Intelligent Design, although it is also at pains to distinguish Intelligent Design from "creationism," which is arguably a more purely religion-based rejection of evolution theory.

15. Segments of well-known recordings and movies appear throughout the film. For instance, the film uses excerpts from various popular music recordings, including Johnny Cash's cover of Depeche Mode's "Personal Jesus," John Paul Young's "Love is in the Air," and the Killers' "All These Things That I've Done." Likewise, snippets of famous films, such as The Wizard of Oz and Inherit the Wind, appear intermittently during the movie. These recordings and clips are generally used ironically, to illustrate the film's critique of evolution theorists.

16. Based on the quickly rolling credits at the end of the movie -- substantially all of which list ownership, credit and "courtesy of" information -- these third party works appear to have been properly licensed. However, amidst all these licensed uses, Defendants' movie also includes an unauthorized synchronized performance of an excerpt from the Imagine Recording. Immediately following an interview of a professor who expresses skepticism about the role of religion, the movie's narrator Ben Stein introduces "Imagine" and somewhere from 14 to 20 seconds of the Imagine Recording is played. At the end of the movie, "Imagine's" ownership and credit information is displayed alongside the similar information for the other music used, but close inspection of the momentary reference reveals, not surprisingly, that the "courtesy of" line was omitted.

17. The Imagine Recording is extraneous to a purportedly scholarly debate about evolution theory. Nothing in the recording itself is intrinsically relevant to the very specific focus of the movie on a dispute over the origin of life and an alleged bias on the part of academia against the theory of Intelligent Design. And while Stein's snarky introduction of "Imagine" strains to link the interviewed professor's comments about religion to Lennon's lyrics about an imaginary world with "no religion," surely there was no need to use the Imagine Recording, with Lennon's signature voice and the immediately recognizable piano performance. Indeed, the use of the Imagine Recording is fundamentally similar to the uses of other recordings throughout the movie, except that in the case of our property, Defendants chose not to obtain rights through proper and lawful channels.

18. This use of the Imagine Recording is not only an affront to our property rights, but is also causing harm to our reputation as well. We learned from the initial press reports that the use of "Imagine" in the film was causing widespread criticism and concern about why those responsible for the recording would permit such use. As the April 16, 2008 online edition of the The Wall Street Journal explained, "Word of the song's appearance in 'Expelled: No Intelligence Allowed' outraged bloggers, who immediately began speculating about why Ms. Ono would allow the song to appear in what they characterized as 'creationist propaganda.'" A copy of The Wall Street Journal article is attached as Exhibit A.

19. In one of the most aggravated instances of confusion about such authorization, a political and cultural writer whose blog appears frequently on the widely-read HuffingtonPost.com attacked Ms. Ono, whom he assumed either sold or gave the rights to "Imagine" to the producers of the film. In screenings around the country, and in copies of the movie reviewed, everyone notes the odd inclusion of the song. I guess that the $20 million plus the estate earns every year isn't enough for Yoko Ono, not only does she feel the need to license the song out, she probably held out for the highest bidder...

The author retracted erroneous statements the next day when informed by Ms. Ono's lawyer that no permission had been granted. A copy of Mr. Boyce's article and subsequent retraction are attached as Exhibit B.

The Irreparable Harm Plaintiffs Are Suffering

20. Our company and business are always jeopardized when third parties use our recordings without authorization. Our primary asset is our recorded intellectual property – our reservoir of recorded performances of great musicians like John Lennon. The harm we face when this asset is used without permission cannot be measured in mere lost license fees, but also in the erosion of property which we must manage and exploit carefully, conscientiously and in collaboration with the artists whose creative works we represent. Once we lose control of that process, our chief asset becomes devalued and imperiled in ways that cannot be quantified.

21. The harm we face in this case is particularly acute. The Imagine Recording is at the heart of a legacy of recorded music that we have helped to nurture and cultivate through decades of hard work. Because the recording is associated with the estate of one of the giants of modern music whose life was cut short by his tragic assassination, we have worked for many decades to respect the wishes of its creator and those who currently represent the Lennon legacy. In collaboration with Lennon's representatives, we try to be selective in how and when we license his musical works for use by third parties. When, however, a recording with the historical and cultural resonance of the Imagine Recording is used without our authorization and in a fashion that confuses the public and causes widespread speculation about our "selling out," our intellectual property and reputation for managing it responsibly is cheapened and tarnished.

22. Moreover, Defendants' unilateral decision to single out the Imagine Recording as available without license threatens one of the core sources of our business and revenue. We do a brisk business in licensing Capitol recordings for use in films, because music so often helps to enhance motion pictures and illustrate and highlight the themes of film makers. If parties were free to misappropriate our recordings every time they wanted to use music in this fashion, our licensing activities would essentially dry up.

23. In contrast to the threats we face, it should pose no hardship on Defendants to remove the Imagine Recording from their movie. As noted above, Defendants' use of the recording is gratuitous and incidental to the broader purposes of their movie. Defendants had ample means at their disposal to communicate their criticism of Darwinian education without stealing our property simply to draw attention to the movie.

24. For Defendants to remove our recording from their movie imposes no genuine hardship; the segment in question can be edited to delete use of the Imagine Recording from the soundtrack. Measured against the irreparable harm we are facing, that minor act of editing is no real burden.

25. For these reasons, we respectfully ask the Court immediately to enjoin Defendants from any further unlicensed use of the Imagine Recording.

26. Plaintiffs have made no prior application for the relief sought herein to this or any other Court.

Yoko Ono, Filmmakers Caught in 'Expelled' Flap

By ETHAN SMITH

April 16, 2008 10:27 p.m.

Having ruffled feathers in the scientific community, the filmmakers behind a documentary questioning evolution theory have now incurred the wrath of one of the most powerful figures in the popular music business, Yoko Ono, and have generated a blogosphere mini-drama in the process.

The flap concerns the film's use of the song "Imagine," by the late John Lennon. Bloggers had accused Ms. Ono, Mr. Lennon's wife, of selling out by licensing the song to the filmmakers. In fact, her lawyers say, she never granted permission for its use.

The movie is set to open Friday on 1,000 screens, according to a press release from Premise Media Corp., the film's producer.

The dustup has already led to both a scathing article and a retraction on the site HuffingtonPost.com, where Wednesday afternoon writer James Boyce took back an article he had posted 48 hours earlier: "I apologize to Mrs. Lennon for my incorrect assumptions and statements in the article below which, of course, I retract completely."

Word of the song's appearance in "Expelled: No Intelligence Allowed" outraged bloggers, who immediately began speculating about why Ms. Ono would allow the song to appear in what they characterized as "creationist propaganda." ("What else would you expect them to say?" asked Mark Mathis, the film's associate producer. "They're absolutely infuriated when anyone dares question their philosophy.")

"I guess that the $20 million plus the estate earns every year isn't enough for Yoko Ono," Mr. Boyce wrote Monday in the Huffington Post<sup>1</sup>, referring to an income estimate printed by Forbes magazine. "Not only does she feel the need to license the song out, she probably held out for the highest bidder."

But according to a lawyer for Ms. Ono, the filmmakers did not have permission to use the song, for any amount of money.

Ms. Ono's lawyer, Jonas Herbsman, of Shukat, Arrow, Hafer, Weber & Herbsman, said in an interview Wednesday: "It was not licensed." With respect to the filmmakers, he says: "We are exploring all options." It is not clear what remedies if any may be available to Ms. Ono.

In a written statement, the film's three producers -- Walt Ruloff, John Sullivan and Logan Craft -- acknowledged that they did not seek permission, but they called the use "momentary." "After seeking the opinion of legal counsel it was seen as a First Amendment issue and protected under the fair use doctrine of free speech," the statement said. A spokeswoman said under 25 seconds of the song are used in the movie.

Typically when producers want to use a song in a film or television program, they need permission from at least two parties: the song's publisher and the record label that distributes the recording they want to use. Big-name artists often retain veto power over any such uses, and in the case of Mr. Lennon's music, those decisions lie in the hands of Ms. Ono.

The film stars Ben Stein, a Yale-educated lawyer and popular pundit who for the film affects a persona akin to a conservative version of Michael Moore, the provocative liberal documentary filmmaker. According to early reviews and the film's trailers, "Expelled" purports to demonstrate that American academia routinely discriminates against people who espouse so-called "intelligent design" theory -- a proposed alternative to evolution that would allow for the participation of a supernatural force in critical biological processes.

Evolutionary biologist Richard Dawkins and others have complained in various public statements that they were duped into participating in interviews for the film. They have said the filmmakers misrepresented the kind of movie they were making. Mr. Mathis, the film's associate producer, disputed that account, saying he personally described the film to interview subjects and even sent many of them the questions he planned to ask.

Bloggers also questioned whether another popular rock group, the Killers, had given permission for the inclusion in the film of one of their songs, "All These Things That I've Done." A spokesman for Vivendi SA's Universal Music Group, which owns the band's record label and music publisher, said licenses had been issued.

Well, it's been an interesting time since I first published this. I never thought that someone, far less Ben Stein, would take a song as famous as "Imagine" and use it in his film without permission.

However, I have learned that in fact Yoko Ono did not license the song for use in the film Expelled: No Intelligence Allowed, and any use of the song in that film is being made without authorization.

Obviously, I apologize to Mrs. Lennon for my incorrect assumptions and statements in the article below which, of course, I retract completely. I will also find out more about the producers of the movie and what their motives are.

Sincerely,

James Boyce

I like to think I've seen it all, or at least a good portion of it. But this Friday, a new movie comes out; one that is nothing more than creationist propaganda in the fine tradition of cigarettes don't kill you and global warming is just a natural occurrence.

The movie, Expelled: No Intelligence Allowed, has been reviewed and reviewed and discussed.

But what hasn't been discussed as much is the fact that Yoko Ono either sold or gave the rights to "Imagine" to the producers of the film. In screenings around the country, and in copies of the movie reviewed, everyone notes the odd inclusion of the song.

I guess that the $20 million plus the estate earns every year isn't enough for Yoko Ono, not only does she feel the need to license the song out, she probably held out for the highest bidder, in this case, the money behind the movie, Walt Ruloff, who made over one hundred million dollars selling his company to Microsoft. (Irony is that a company who makes computers, perhaps the ultimate daily example of the higher power of science in our lives, indirectly funded a movie that doesn't believe science should be taught in schools.)

Of course, it wasn't just Yoko Ono that sold out, the Killers did too (and I am a bigger Killers fan than I am fan of hers to be honest.) Their song, "All These Things That I've Done," is also in the movie. I hear that the going rate for a song like this is a million dollars, again, why can't the Killers be happy with the tens of millions they are making every year? Who knows?

"Imagine" and "All These Things I've Done" are great, great songs — maybe one day they'll get sold to a movie I actually am going to see.
